Steeped in Leicester's industrial heritage, the Cultural Quarter pulses with creative energy. Grand old warehouses and listed buildings stand as testaments to the city's textile and shoemaking past. Yet, the Quarter isn't a museum – it's a vibrant fusion of history and innovation. Award-winning regeneration has breathed fresh life into the area, making it a haven for artists, designers, and kindred spirits.

Over the last two decades, the area has transformed from a former industrial powerhouse into a vibrant cultural hub buzzing with artistic energy. World-class theatre at Curve, independent cinema and digital art at Phoenix, huddled alongside a thriving community of creative businesses.

A VIBRANT FUSION OF HISTORY AND INNOVATION

The Bring The Paint International Street-Art Festival has turned the Cultural Quarter's walls into canvases, showcasing works by renowned street artists. It's a living, breathing testament to the area's artistic soul. The transformation of the Cultural Quarter is much more than a regeneration project, it's a place where creative spirits assemble and ignite something unique and special.

A recent increase in residential studio conversions and business startups has sparked a vibrant energy, making it a centre for creative expression, cosmopolitan living, and an inspiring place to exist, whether it's your home, your workspace, or your playground.

CURVE

Curve pushes boundaries as a leading UK regional theatre. Their stages, equipped for the most intricate productions, host not only acclaimed West End hits like Billy Elliot, A Chorus Line, Evita but also powerhouse local works and independent productions.

Beyond the curtain, Curve provides tours to unveil the magic behind the scenes, fostering a unique connection between audience and production.

A key community anchor in Leicester, Curve offers a range of workshops and children's programmes, inspiring local talent and providing hands-on experience, feeding a pipeline that could lead them straight to the Curve stage.

Their partnership with students at local colleges and universities provide opportunities for the next generation of talent to showcase their acting and production skills to an always appreciative audience.

PHOENIX

Phoenix independent cinema isn't your average multiplex. Their four screens showcase the freshest independent & arthouse films alongside the latest blockbusters. Curated festivals explore iconic classics, while themed global screenings and genre-focused events keep things exciting and varied.

Cinema goers can also access Phoenix's free exhibition space, featuring work by internationally renowned artists and photographers, often with a thematic link to film.

The on-site cafe and restaurant allows visitors to refuel with healthy, locally sourced meals, providing the opportunity to mingle with fellow creatives, and Nest, their rooftop bar, also gives you the chance to soak up the sun as you look out over the Cultural Quarter.

ART IN THE CULTURAL QUARTER

The Cultural Quarter is the centre of Leicester's artistic scene. This is where the world-renowned Bring the Paint festival began, leaving a legacy of striking street murals and ever-evolving outdoor art. To complement this, the Cultural Quarter boasts a vibrant network of exhibition spaces, seamlessly joining the indoor and outdoor galleries.

The LCB Depot features a constantly evolving exhibition space, where installations exploring design, fashion, and even AI art are showcased throughout the year alongside special shows by local and international artists. In recent years they have linked with Derby's International Photography Festival - FORMAT - showcasing creativity from around the world!

Katy & Robyn, Studio Technicians
at Leicester Print Workshop

Two Queens gallery is the place where local artists work can be seen, alongside their displays and special events, and Leicester Print Workshop offers classes, courses and workshops in print making. And now The Real Ale Classroom and Exchange bar take work from the LCB Depot exhibitions, becoming an extension of the exhibition space and broadening their reach.

MAKERS' YARD

Based in the city's oldest hosiery factories, now repurposed as a home for creatives, Makers' Yard is a studio space for artists and designer makers. This award-winning, dynamic and inspiring workspace is home to a wide range of creative entrepreneurs, artists, makers and artisans.

As a hosiery factory the building dates back to 1854 and played a key role in the first and second world wars, producing clothing for our troops. Later on the 'swinging sixties' brought a huge boost to the city, with Leicester becoming known as "the city that clothes the world", and the 'Charnwood Hosiery Factory' produced clothes for all, including socks for Liverpool FC, Manchester United and of course, Leicester City, plus the little known TV star Terry Wogan.

Following its abandonment in 2002 and Grade II Listing status in 2006 Makers' Yard was lovingly restored in 2013. Today the building offers a range of dedicated single-let studios and shared space for smaller enterprises, continuing that tale of creativity and making.

Visit the website to discover independent makers, and details of public events and creative workshops held in the building. lcbdepot.co.uk/makers-yard

LIVE MUSIC

Being a creative area, of course the Cultural Quarter is full of great places to hear the latest artists!

The Soundhouse and The Shed are your go-to spots for discovering the hottest local acts, with the occasional touring gem thrown in the mix. For those nights where you crave soulful sounds, Brick and Beam bar boasts incredible live jazz artists and DJs spinning sets on weekends.

LCB Depot is also the place to hear some live music with their regular events and showcases. Country and western comes to Orton Square with new venue Baton Rouge showcasing the ever popular genre with regular music nights and open mic spots alongside great food and a healthy dose of good ol' southern hospitality. You can also catch small scale shows at The Real Ale Classroom and The Exchange.

For those in search of something a little different and just a short walk from the Cultural Quarter is The Musician, offering a dose of blues, roots, and Americana from top touring artists and local musicians.

Right on the edge of the Cultural Quarter you can find HQ Recording, an award winning grassroots music production facility. They provide a relaxed, creative high quality studio environment across two rooms, with the latest in cutting edge digital software and hardware.

LIVING & STAYING IN THE CULTURAL QUARTER

Live in the heart of the action at the Cultural Quarter and find yourself a short stroll from the main shopping areas and historic core of the city. Leicester's Cultural Quarter is packed with new-build stylish apartments, sitting alongside loft conversions and refurbishments of old factories. Whether it's luxury apartments on Queen Street, Alexandra House, or conversions in St George's Mill, there's a perfect place to call home.

The Cultural Quarter is the ideal location to stay if you're visiting Leicester. Hotels in the area include the Ramada Encore, right at the entrance to the Cultural Quarter, and close by on Granby Street is the prestigious Grand Hotel, a Grade II listed Victorian building. Across the ring road you can find the Ibis Leicester City and Premier Inn, which is located in the 'Big Blue Tower' featuring Europe's tallest piece of street art!

OTHER BUSINESSES

Beyond the creative buzz, the Cultural Quarter offers even more variety.

Athena is a stunning converted art deco cinema and caters to large conferences and events, creating a truly unique experience.

SOCIAL

@ATHENALEICESTER

Many of our top cultural producers are based in the area, thanks to spaces such as LCB Depot and Phoenix Square - an important hub for creative tech businesses, offering 30 workspace studios across 3 floors. The Big Difference Company run the Leicester Comedy Festival, the biggest comedy festival in Europe, which welcomes the top stars of stand up. Inspirate are responsible for An Indian Summer Festival which brings a flavour of South Asia to the Cultural Quarter every summer, and ArtReach, who are the creative minds behind the Journeys Festival International, Light Up Leicester and Re/Thread.
